IntegrityXchange - Managed Reporting Service

‘Speak Freely. Report Safely. Be Heard’

IntegrityXchange is our fully managed reporting solution, powered by our global technology partner. More than a whistleblowing tool, it integrates secure technology (ISO 27001 :2013 certified) with expert-led services tailored to your operational needs.

With the ability to capture whistleblowing disclosures, personal grievances, psychosocial safety hazards and any other issues or disclosures it promotes trust, ensures legal compliance, and fosters a positive reporting culture that supports workplace harmony and excellence.

The portal is able to be customised to your needs, we can handle the platform's implementation, integration, and ongoing management as needed, to maximise the benefits for you.

Our Leadership Team

Jason Landers CoFounder/Managing Director

Jason has over 23 years of experience in investigations across government and corporate sectors, including leadership positions in the Energy and Resource sectors.

He has led cross-border investigations and whistleblower programs throughout the Asia-Pacific, addressing issues such as harassment, discrimination, fraud, and corruption.

Known for this ethical and people-focused approach, Jason has implemented whistleblower systems and delivered a range of training for HR, Legal, ER, and Safety teams. He holds an MBA and qualifications in investigations, interviewing, OH&S, and public safety.

Dan Grace CoFounder/Managing Director

Dan has over 13 years' experience in investigations, intelligence and integrity advisory services across government and corporate sectors. He has led complex investigations both as a consultant and internal specialist in leadership positions, supporting some of the largest organisations in Australia and internationally across a range of high-risk industries, including oil and gas, retail and education.

A Nationally Accredited Mediator, Dan supports organisations to build psychologically safe cultures through conflict resolution, training, and systems design. He holds a Bachelor of Commerce, as well as qualifications in investigations, digital forensics, and postgraduate accreditations in leadership, among others.

Our Experience and Past Engagements

We bring decades of experience across industries, including but not limited to construction, mining, oil and gas, aviation, manufacturing, education, government, shipping and marine, retail, and health and medical. Some examples of our past engagements include:

- Led investigations of varied complexity, including cross-jurisdictional and in high-risk sectors, addressing issues including bullying, harassment, corruption, and financial misconduct.
- Delivered psychosocial responses to identified hazards, developing training and measures to support compliance with Australian legislation, including Positive Duty obligations under Australian workplace laws.
- Designed and implemented reporting programs for a range of corporate clients, including policy development and cross-functional training.

We Support Your Organisation When:

Internal teams require our specialist expertise or lack capacity

Sensitive complaints require a trauma-informed, people-centric approach.

Leadership seeks guidance on culture, compliance, or risk.

There's a need to proactively prevent future harm.
